

Role of the Office:

The JHCRN links Johns Hopkins Medicine with a diverse network of community based health care systems that offers researchers the opportunity to collaborate with other purpose-driven researchers, and access to over 11-million potential research participants from diverse backgrounds. Our sites include:

- Anne Arundel Medical Center
- Alleghany Health Network
- Inova Health System
- Peninsula Regional Medical Center
- Reading Health System/Tower Health

Johns Hopkins Clinical Research Network (JHCRN)

Scan to Learn More

Capitalize on a dynamic community of investigators, institutional collaborations, rapid access to industry-sponsored studies, and a diverse patient population.

To find out how we can support you and your research goals, please contact us at:

jhcrn@jhmi.edu.

Services Provided:

We support your research by:

- Identifying multi-site collaborative investigator(s) that serve diverse patient populations in urban, rural, and suburban settings
- Locating & pursuing funding opportunities for your multisite research
- Providing information on the population to be studied
- Offering administrative support (LOS, biosketches, budget and demographic justification)
- Developing draft recruitment strategies