Title Support for Health Care Workers and Direct Services Staff
PI Tener Veenema
IRB# 00248088

Sponsor Johns Hopkins School of Medicine COVID-19 Research Grants

Description The goal of this research is to identify the issues most critical to health care workers' mental health and well-being during the COVID-19 pandemic. Employees working in a health care setting at Johns Hopkins and Kennedy Krieger Institute will be invited to complete a brief, online survey. Upon completing the survey, respondents will have the option of taking part in a qualitative interview to gain a deeper understanding of healthcare workers' experiences.

Who Are the Participants in the Trial? All KKI, JHMI, and JHU employees working in health care settings will be eligible. We will also interview a small number (n=15) of family members of health care workers.

Are There Any Interventions? No

Will Any of My COVID-19 Test Results Be Available to Johns Hopkins Occupational Health or My Supervisor? N/A

Will I Be Paid for My Participation in the Study? Yes. Survey participants have the option to receive a $10 gift card to Amazon (requires email address). Interview participants will receive a $50 gift card to Amazon or local restaurant with delivery services. All participants will receive these gifts regardless of whether they complete the entire survey or interviews.

Where Do I Have to Go for Study Visits? N/A. All study procedures will be done online.

Contact Person If you have any questions about this study, please feel free to contact the study team directly at:
